

Dear friends, dear team leaders!

Kazan Federal University, the venue for IOI 2016, and the leader of the Russian team – Vladimir Kiryukhin - invite you to take part in the annual Eurasian International School for Informatics “Junior” (ISIJ) in 2018 from June 24 to July 3 in city Kazan IT-Lyceum of the University.

ISIJ is held to prepare juniors for participation in international competitions in computer science. Kazan Federal University prepared additional seminars for juniors in its innovative laboratories: planetarium, medical computer center, media-studio of historical reconstructions. IT companies will hold workshops for participants and competitions.

The participants of ISIJ are students invited from Europe and Asia - the leaders of national Olympiads in computer science. Participants must be at least 15 years of age by 31 December 2018. The team composition is formed by a country and includes 2-6 students and one coach, who participates in the training camp as a member of the international coaching Council.

The registration fee is 300 euros (accommodation, meals) per person for 11 days (10 night). Payment of registration fees is available on the website by card. Other payment options are available. All the details by email. The fare to Kazan and back is provided by the country - participant ISIJ. The accommodation is planned on the territory of the Universiade Village in Kazan.

For additional teachers of the team the registration fee is 500 euros.

The Scientific and Technical Committee prepares materials for classes at ISIJ.

The program ISIJ plans to hold Cup contest on the basis of the tasks of the participating countries.

The coaches of each team must bring with them one task with the tests to it for inclusion in the Cup.

Rules of the Cup takes Coaching Council.

Contest preparation makes Scientific and technical Committee of ISIJ.
